Hi Marion,
I am just starting to read this report, but wanted you to have it before the holidays.

Anne,

The report is final at this point. It is attached, with the cover page showing that it is a final report. You may send it to EPA scientists or to anyone else who is interested.

Thanks

Gloria

Gloria - - I am in the process of reviewing the subject report, issued as Draft Final to the Cancer Institute of New Jersey in August 2010. It is an excellent resource of information for many reasons. Among the reasons, is its potential application to help inform risk assessment development for the Passaic River projects, with regard to typical or expected crab and fish preparation and consumption patterns. It is understood that it cannot be used as direct comparison, however, it can bolster other site-specific information. Is this report considered final and if so, can I provide a copy to our counterparts at EPA on the Passaic River project? If not, do you have an anticipated public release date? Thanks, Anne
